

INDEX

TO THE

HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-EIGHTH VOLUME OF THE QUARTERLY REVIEW.

A.

Africa, Missionary enterprise in, 76—
work of the Universities' Mission, 77—South, attitude of the Liberals, 438—annexation of Cape Colony, ib.
—result of the British rule, 439—jealousy between the English and Dutch, ib.—position of the Governors, 440—need for military protection, ib.—scheme of the Afrikaner Bond, 441—discovery of diamond fields, 443—rise of Kimberley, ib.—
Mr. Cecil Rhodes's policy, 444—evacuation of the Transvaal, 445—
discovery of the Witwaters Randt Gold district, 447—increase of the Kaffirs, 450—need for emigrants with money, 451—uncertain supply of native labour, 452—result of the 'Blanket' vote, 453—treatment of natives, ib.—policy of annexing native territories, 454—programme of the United Confederacy, 455.
Agassiz, his theory of the ice-sheet over the land, 111.
Alcock, Sir R., Consul at Foochow, 467—his duties at Shanghai, 468—
adopts stringent measures, 469.
Anarchist Literature, 1—signs of 'reaction,' 2—Dr. Max Nordau's views, 3—religion the cure for anarchy, 4 —resemblance to the latter years of Louis XV., ib.—symptoms of decline in Paris, 6—causes of European decadence, 7—hysteria, ib.—
'atastism,' 8—elements of anarchy, 9—Mystics and Egotists, 10—healthy and diseased genius, ib.—picture-writing and 'word-painting,' 11—anarchic singers, 12—Tolstoi, 13—influence of books on the world, 14
—Richard Wagner, 15—18—sources of stimulation, 19, 20—growth of morbid self-consciousness, 20—danger of the esthetic movement, 21—23
—Henrik Ibsen, 23—26—decadent civilization of overgrown cities, 27—fate of the masses, 28—creative power lacking, 29.

Vol. 178.—No. 356.

Arden, J., discovery of fragments of Hyperides manuscript, 538.

Arnold, Dr., Headmaster of Rugby, 240—influence on Stanley's character, 243—Professor of Modern History at Oxford, 251—success of his inaugural lecture, ib.—death, 252.

B.

'Betterment' and Local Taxation, 185
—character and object, 186—difference between rates and taxes,
ib.—proposed tax of the London County Council, 187—evils of the scheme, 188—powers of the Arbitrator, 189, 190—prophetic valuations of the Council, 191—territorial condition of London, 192, 198—property of landlords, 193—imperceptible gain to the community, 194, 196—want of principle in the project, 195—characteristics of the population, 197—difficulties of increasing the number of freeholders, 198—debate in the House of Commons, 199—201—in the Lords, 201—203—method of 'interception,' 203—want of information, 204—clamour for readjustment of taxation, ib.—the rating of London, 205—indifference of the Conservatives, 206—heavy rates on urban land, 207—physical results, 208—the income-tax, ib.—equality,
the principle of municipal law, 209 —development of London, 210—the present landlord system, 211—increasing requirements of the people,
212—grievances of the population, 213.

Bible, The, in the British Museum, 157—1st entry in the Catalogue, ib.
—scarcity of the copies of the Com-plutensian Polyglott, 158—number of Greek editions, ib.—Latin, 159—
the Mazarine Bible, ib.—English versions, 160—Coverdale's translation, ib.—copy of the Zürich original, 161—the Great Bible and Cranmer's
Bible, ib.—the small folio of 1549,

- 162—Genevan or the Breeches Bible, 163—Calvinistic tone of the marginal notes, 164—rapid circulation, 166—the style of Catechisms, ib.—the Genevan-Tomson editions, 167—Concordance of Tables annexed, ib.—different translation of the Révelation, 169—Parker's translation, the Bishops' Bible, ib.—instructions to the translators, 169—absurdity of the notes, ib.—2nd edition in 1569, 170—pirated editions of the Genevan Bible of 1599, ib.—omission of the Apocryphal books, 171, 174—the Gocce edition, 172—Authorized Version or 'She' Bible of 1611, 173—preponderance of Oxford editions, 174—blunders in printing, 175—grant to Clement Cotton, ib.—useful and compact Concordance, 176—the first Welsh Bible of 1588, 177—earliest Manus of 1771, ib.—absence of the Prayer-Book from most copies of the Elizabethan period, 178—curious edition of a quarto dated 1730, 179—Broerens edition, 180—carelessness of Dutch printing, 181—insertion of the Apocryphal books, 182—the Prayer Book and Metrical Psalms, ib.—number of Foreign Bibles, 183—Revised Version, 184.
- Bishop, Mrs., description of the women of the zenanas and harems, 61. See Church Missions.
- Bornet, E., his work on the great groups of Protophyta, 364.
- Bullen, Mr., Catalogue of English books in the British Museum, 157.

C.

- Canterbury, Archbishop of, his Mission to the Assyrian Christians, 78-80—on the authorship of the Books of the Law, 411.
- Cathay, A Cycle of, 460.
- Catullus, his poems on Lesbia, 141—origin and associates, 142—attraction for Clodia, 143—supplanted by Cælius, 146—phases of his passion, 146-149—apparent innocence, 147—lines from his sick-bed, 149—affection for his brother, 150—shorter poems, 151—translators of his works, 151, 152, 154—power of relating an incident and mastery of metre, 153—'Attis,' ib.—prevailing chord of sadness, 155—'Marriage of Peleus and Thetis,' 156.
- Census, the 'General Report,' 504.
- Chiltern Hundreds, The Stewardship of the, 215—ignorance on the subject, ib.—description of the office, 216—the Place Act of 6 Anne, 217—result of the Bill, 218—meaning of the term Crown Steward, ib.—position and duty, 219—discontinued by Charles II., 220—survival of a few, ib.—reappearance in 1750, 221—development of the titles of Chancellor of the Exchequer and Under-Treasurer, 222—appointment of Stewardships, 223—the Escheatorships of Munster and Ulster, 224—survival of the two titular appointments, 225—difference between the creation of bonâ-fide and nominal Stewards, ib.—result of the Crown prerogative, 225, 226—supervising rights of the House of Commons, 227—honorific words expunged from the warrant, ib.—rules for the appointment, 228-231—formalities in making the grant, 231—procedure of 'acceptance,' 232—issue of the new writ, 233.

China, treatment of foreigners, 460—suppression of the opium traffic, 462—declaration of war, ib.—Chinking captured, 464—Treaty of Peace, 465, 466—Yeh, Imperial High Commissioner at Canton, 473.

Church Missions, The Progress and Prospects of, 52—growing influence of Christianity, 54—non-Christian religions found wanting, ib.—number of Church Missions and Societies, 55—Medical Missions and Zenana work, 56—education and the variety of agency, ib.—Colleges and Associations, 57—development of Sisterhoods, ib.—amount of British contributions, 58—number of periodicals, ib.—power of the press and the platform, 59—increasing number of candidates, ib.—rapid expansion of the Zenana Mission, 60—literature of missions, 61—biographies and other works, 62—the 'Classified Digest of the S.P.G. Records,' 62, 63—the martyrdoms of Martyn, Hannington, and Patten, 64—missionary heroism, 65—appeals for more labourers, 66—extension of the episcopate, 67—results, ib.—need of further provision in India, 68—difficulty in the conversion, 69—progress of Christianity in the first three centuries, 70—state of religious feeling in India, 70-72—serious hindrances, 73—legislative indifference, 74—number of Native Christians, 74, 75

—missionary enterprise in Africa, 76
—work of the Universities' Mission, 77—abilities of converts, 78—Archbishop of Canterbury's Mission to the Assyrian Christians, 78—80.

Cicero, M. Tullius, the first poet and orator of his age, 138—polish and harmony of cadence, ib.—inferior to Virgil, 139—translations from the Greek, 140—celebrated speech for Cælius, 146.

'Classified Digest of the S.P.G. Records,' 62.

Clodia, the Palatine Medea, 143—her fascination and falseness, ib.—lovers and victims, 144, 145.

Cookery, Old English, 82—superiority of the newer school, 83—'The Forme of Cury' and other books of the 15th cent., 84—service of the ancient dinner table, 85—elaborate system of etiquette, ib.—tedious ceremonies, 86—the tasting of dishes, ib.—the carver's office, 87—the cupbearer, ib.—table furniture, 88—trenchers, ib.—rules of good manners, 89—character of mediæval cookery, ib.—ingredients and seasoning, 90—number of sauces and condiments, 91—homage to superior rank, 92—'gala' dishes, ib.—dishes for different seasons, 93—native productions and imported goods, ib.—little change in certain combinations and mixtures, 94, 95—varieties of pastry, 95—game and wild-fowl, 96—early kitchen vocabulary, ib.—utensils, 97—roasting apparatus, ib.—structure of early dwelling-houses, 98—character of cookery books in the 16th and 17th cents., 99—'Pudding,' 100—jellies and soups, ib.—disuse of ceremonies, 101—new arrangement of 'courses,' ib.—menu of a dinner in the 18th cent., 102—changes from mediæval to modern customs, 102—104.

County Council, London, Improvements Bill, 185. See 'Betterment.'

D.

Dartmoor, the Forest of, 417. See Devon.

Defoe, Daniel, the literary ancestor of the modern novelist, 40. See History and Fable.

Demagogues in British Politics, 553—attack on the House of Lords, 554—'one man one vote,' 556—duration of Parliament, ib.—payment of Members, 557—theory of Socialism, ib.—position of the classes, 558—attitude to the people, 561—advertisement of disinterestedness and zeal, 562—the art of flattery, 563—appeal to the passions of envy and hatred, ib.—catchwords of 'democratic progress,' 564—science, 565—principle of equality, 566—political and social equality, 567.

Democracy, the true and spurious form of, 553.

Demosthenes, colleague of Hyperides, 537—prosecution, 542—flight from Athens, 545—death, ib.

Devon, The pleasant Land of, 414—number of estates, 415—family names, 416—the Forest of Dartmoor, 417—tenants of the Duchy, 418—view, 419—rivers, ib.—the deep estuaries, 420—the Eastern rivers, 421—the Exe, 422—vale of the Axe, ib.—churches and abbeyes, 423—the Teign, 424—the Dart, ib.—the sheltered combs, 425—relics and ancient monuments on Dartmoor, 426—Cyclopean monuments, 427—traces of Celts, 428—Saxons, ib.—Phœnicians, 429—Stannary Court, ib.—Lydford, 430—traces of supernatural life, ib.—witches and wizards, 431—strange apparition, 432—barrows protected by superstition, 433.

E.

Elgin, Lord, Special Envoy to the Court of Peking, 475—attacks Canton, ib.—signs a treaty, 477—re-appointed Envoy Extraordinary, 478—determines upon the destruction of the Emperor's Summer Palace, 481.

Eliot, George, her success in the historic novel, 49.

Elliot, Sir C., Minister to China, 461.

F.

Fable. See History.

France, independence of seaborne commerce, 294—increase in the strength of the Navy, 299—number of vessels, 301.

G.

Gibraltar, Straits of, its valuable position, 296—need for constructing a dock, ib.

Gloucester and Bristol, Bishop of, on the trustworthiness of the Old Testament, 377—definition of the Traditional view, 379—formal statement, 380—'Christus Comprobator,' 388. Goodwin, Dr. Harvey, on the doctrine of the 'Two Natures,' 390. See Old Testament Criticism.

H.

Harris, A. C., discovery of fragments of Hyperides manuscript, 583.

Harrison, Miss M., 'Guide to Cookery,' 83.

Haughton, Prof., extract from his paper, 115. See Ice Age.

History and Fable, 31—decreasing resemblance between, 32—belief in the old popular tales, ib.—attempts to explain the old fables, 33—source and subject of legends, ib.—earliest relations between, 34—Fable, the primitive form of a biographical series, 35—desire for accurate knowledge, ib.—process of dissociation, 36—successive stage of partnership, ib.—Romance, 37—identification of events and persons, 38—supply of narrative, ib.—divergence of aims and methods, 39—development of Romance into the Historic Novel, 40—Defoe, ib.—dialogue, 41—Horace Walpole's imitation of nature, 42—changes in the drawing of characters, ib.—18th cent. Romance, 43—the life and reality of Walter Scott's stories, 44—Bulwer Lytton's vain attempt to reconcile History and Romance, 45—close of the school of conventional art, 46—the modern historical novelist, 47—success of Thackeray, 48—George Eliot, 49—the author of 'John Inglesant,' 50.

Hobhouse, Lord, on the London Improvements Bill, 201. See 'Betterment.'

Holne, moorland village of, birthplace of Charles Kingsley, 424.

Howorth, Sir H., 'The Glacial Nightmare and the Flood,' 105.

Hyperides and the New Papyri, 531—history of the recovery of the papyrus roll, 533—535—date of his birth, 536—private life and character, ib.—colleague of Demosthenes, 537—public career, ib.—political views, 538—triumph over Æschines, ib.—defence of his unconstitutional measures, 539—oration against Philipides, 540—the case of Harpalus, 541—speech against Demosthenes, 542, 543—Funeral Oration, 544—flight from Athens, 545—execution, ib.—forensic genius, 546—defence of Lycophron, ib.—Euxenippus, 547—prosecution of Athenogenes, 548—characteristics of his style, 550—552.

I.

Ibsen, Henrik, the standard-bearer of anarchy, 23—skilful playwright, ib.—characters, 24—views of marriage, 25—characteristic ideas, 26.

Ice Age, Some Theories of the, 105—description of the Drift, 106—varieties of thickness, 107—foreign character of boulders, ib.—speculations on the origin, 108—water the first agent, ib.—the lifting and floating power of ice, 109—prevalence of enormous glaciers in the Pleistocene age, ib.—theory of the droppings, 110—the 'Glacial nightmare,' ib.—hypothesis of the two great ice-sheets, 111—apparent improbability of the theory, 112—formation of the polar snow-caps, 113—various hypotheses of speculative physicists, ib.—discovery of fossil remains, 114—conjecture of the shifting of the axis of rotation, ib.—result of experiments, 115—slow secular variations, 116—vapour-charged clouds, 117—law of ice-movement, ib.—glacier in motion, 118—movements of an ice-sheet and a glacier, ib.—the mountains of Greenland, 119—record of an Antarctic voyage, 120—objections to the ice-sheet theory, 121—limitation of the area, ib.—work assigned to the ice-sheet, 122—fossil remains of the Drift, ib.—indications of a warmer climate, 123—precarious basis for the Ice-age theory, 124—epoch of catastrophic inundation, 125—indications of flood-action, ib.—form of the Drift, 126—substance and contents, ib.—size and weight of the boulders, 127.

India, Church Missions in, 68—need for investigation into the religious systems, 71—hindrances impeding the growth of Christianity, 73—attitude of the British Government, 74—number of native Christians, 74, 75—the decennial census, 75.

J.

Johnson, Dr., his judgment on Shakespeare, 340.

K.

Kidd, B., his doctrine of social evolution, 559.

L.

Labour, Royal Commission on, Reports of the Assistant Commissioners, 506.
 Labourer, The Agricultural, 504—misleading totals of 1881 and 1891, 505—number of females, 505, 508—number of persons employed on land, 507—ages of males, 508, 510—decrease in tillage, 509—voluntary migration, ib.—increase in the rural population, 510—differences in percentage decreases, 511—supply of labour, 512—advantages of the yearly hiring system, 513—disadvantages, 514—variations in regularity of employment, 515—hours of work of horsemen, 516—of ordinary labourers, 517—difficulty of granting a half-holiday, ib.—average weekly earnings, 518—523—Table of comparison, 522—supply of cottages, 523—condition and rent, 524—difference in the demand for allotments, 525—small holdings system, 526—old-age pensions, 527—relations between employers and employed, 528—improved condition of labourers, 528—530.
 Latin Poetry of the Cæsarean Epoch, 129—oblivion of once eminent poets, 130—quality of the Augustan poets, 131—encouragement of poetry under Augustus, 132—oppositional tone, 133—early Roman, 134—popularity of the Drama, 135—Tragedy and Comedy, 136—the Græco-Roman drama, ib.—copious yield, 137—poetry of Cicero, 138—140—Lucretius and Catullus compared, 141—poems of Catullus, 141—156.
 Le Clerc, Jean, his views of the Mosaic authorship, 391, 399.
 Liberals, The, and South Africa, 435—their attitude to the Colonies, 436—tendency to interfere, 438, 457—condemnation of the Colonial policy, 456—danger of interference, 457.
 Loch, Sir Henry, Governor of the Cape, 448—his cordial co-operation with Mr. Rhodes, ib.
 Lords, House of, agitation against, 554—cautious and forbearing use of powers, 555.
 Lubbock, Sir J., on the scheme of 'Betterment,' 199.

Lytton, Bulwer, his vain attempt to reconcile History and Romance, 45.

M.

Marshall, Mrs. A. B., 'Cookery Book,' 82.
 Maxwell, Sir H., 'The Life and Times of the Rt. Hon. W. H. Smith, M.P.,' 308.
 Mill, John Stuart, contests Westminster against Mr. W. H. Smith, 319.
 Murray, Dr. John, his apparatus for ocean steamships, 374.

N.

Navy, The British, 289—interests to be protected, 290—shores of the United Kingdom, 291—Colonies and coal-ing stations, ib.—sea-borne commerce and food supplies, 292—inde-pendence of France, 293—of Russia, 294—inadmissible policy of abandon-ing the Mediterranean, 295—valua-ble position of Gibraltar, 296—necessity for a dock, ib.—standard of strength to be maintained, 297—state of the Navy in 1885, ib.—provision under the Naval Defence Act, 298—supineness of the Govern-ment, 300—comparison of strength of the British, French, and Russian navies, 301—additional number of vessels required, 302—importance of the personnel, ib.—deficiency in the number of officers and men, 303—necessity for increasing the numbers of active-service men and reserves, 304—inadequacy of the Naval Esti-mates, 305—307.
 Nordau, Dr. M., his view of religion and metaphysics, 3—Entartung or 'Degeneration,' 5—characteristic of modern fashion, ib.—estimate of the Symbolists, 12—judgment of Tolstoi, 13—sketch of the future, 26—confi-dence in the deep-seated vitality of mankind, 27.

O.

Obstruction, various forms of, 272, 495.
 Ocean Meadows, 363—the green Pro-tophyta, 364—phosphorescence of the ocean, 365—origin of the name of the Red Sea, ib.—the breaking of the meres, 366—an ubiquitous marine vegetation, 367—need for scientific investigation, ib.—exten-sive fossil diatomaceous deposits, 368—records of the 'Challenger'

- expedition, 369—varied forms of the pelagic diatoms, ib.—geographical distribution, 370—the Rhadospheres and Cocospheres, 371—Dr. Schütt's sketch of the plant life, 372—failure of the German expedition, 373—Dr. Murray's apparatus, 374.
- Old Testament. See Testament, Old.
- Onslow, Earl of, his criticism of the 'betterment' clauses, 202.
- P.
- Parkes, Sir H., 460—lands in China, 463—adventurous spirit, 464—interpreter at Foochow, 467—leave of absence, 470—pursuit of the Taotai, ib.—interpreter at Canton, 471—mission to Siam, 472—marriage, ib.—acts as Consul at Canton, 473—remonstrance to Yeh, 474—captures the Commissioner, 475—administrative reforms, 476—captures the Taku forts, 479—taken prisoner, ib.—released, 481—created K.C.B., 482—Consul at Shanghai, 483—Minister to Japan, ib.—return to China, 484—unceasing antagonism of the Mandarins, 485—death, ib.
- Parliament, The Peril of, 263—claiming of immunities, 264—arrogation of sole power, 265—far-reaching interference, ib.—effect of trade combinations, 266—change in the personnel, 267—limited size of the House of Commons, 268—tendency of increasing disorder, 269—insult to Black Rod, ib.—causes of disorder, 270—Members' places, ib.—deficiency of space, 271—tendency to subdivision, ib.—growth of obstruction, 272—effort to control obstruction in 1880, 273—suspension of Irish Members, 275—Rules of Urgency, ib.—resistance to the scheme of revision, 276—third Reform Bill, ib.—success of the Closure Rule of 1887, 277—danger of the new peremptory order, ib.—abuse of the Closure, 278—safety of slow legislation, 279—proposed increase of authority to the Chair, 280—difficulty of controlling amendments, 281—moral influence of the Chair, 282—divided allegiance of Members, ib.—misconduct of an Irish Member, 283—corruption by promises, 284—immunity of the new bribery, 285—difficulty of detecting slander, ib.—work of the House of Lords, 286—temperate debates, 287.
- Parliamentary Procedure versus Obstruction, 486—aversion to change, ib.—result of the suffrage thrown open, 487—rights of free speech, 489—jurisdiction of the House, ib.—defects of the existing Rules, 490—terms of the Closure Rule of 1881 and 1887, ib.—interruptions to orators, 491—inadequacy to control frivolous amendments, 492—closed debate on the Home Rule Bill, 493—expediency of extending the Closure Rule to the Standing Committees, 494—new system of multiplying Instructions, 495—497—proper functions of an Instruction, 497—organized system of veiled obstruction, 498—proposal for the Civil Service Estimates, 499, 500—stringent Rule in the American House of Representatives, 501—method of black-mailing, ib.—fate of the Savings Bank Bill, of 1890, 502—the Bann Drainage Bill of 1888, 503.
- Parnell, Rt. Hon. C. S., M.P., initiates obstruction, 272—result, 274.
- Poets, their misrepresentations of various birds and beasts, 342—neglect of others, 343—want of sympathy with Nature, 344—terms of abuse, 345—imitations of Shakespeare's peculiarities, 361.
- Pottinger, Sir H., attacks the town of Chinkiang, 464—enters into negotiations, 465—terms of the Treaty, 466.
- Prince, J., 'The Worthies of Devon,' 414.
- Prothero, R. E., 'Life and Correspondence of A. P. Stanley,' 235—method of dealing with the materials, 236—length of documents and letters from 1840, 237.
- R.
- Rhodes, Mr. Cecil, effects amalgamation of the Kimberley Mines, 444—successful policy, 446, 448—Prime Minister of the Cape, 448.
- Risdon, Tristram, description of the Forest of Dartmoor, 417.
- Russia, building of cruisers, 294—increase in the strength of the Navy, 299—number of vessels, 301.
- S.
- Salisbury, Lord, on the want of principle in 'betterment,' 202—on the death of Mr. W. H. Smith, 339.

Schütt, Dr., 'Das Pflanzenleben der Hochsee,' 372—on the gulf-weed of the Sargasso Sea, 373.

Scott, Sir Walter, his splendid creations, 44—peculiarity of his work, 45.

Shakespeare's Birds and Beasts, 340—his method of handling animated nature, 341—influence on succeeding poetry, 342, 346—his colossal individuality, 346—indifference of his natural history, 347—description of an ideal horse, 348—a bee-hive, ib.—the catalogue of dogs, 349—his natural history of the cuckoo, ib.—the weasel, 350—the bee, 351—extraordinary omissions, 352—terms for wild animals, 353—description of the boar, the hare, and the deer, 354—mention of birds, 355—the lark, ib.—the dove, 356—and other birds, 357, 358—detestation of dogs and cats, 359—indifference to 'local colour,' 360.

Simon, Father, 'Critical History of the Old Testament,' 397.

Smith, Dr. G., 'The Conversion of India,' 69—on the increase of native Christians, 75.

Smith, Prof. G., on 'The Political Crisis in England,' 559.

Smith, Dr. Robertson, Lectures on 'The Old Testament in the Jewish Church,' 402.

Smith, Rt. Hon. W. H., 308—unique career, 309—birth and early years, 310—co-partner in the business, ib.—successful operations, 312—insight into character, 313—retirement of his father, ib.—marriage, 314—high ideal of duty, ib.—increase in the value of the business, 315—desire to enter Parliament, ib.—blackballed by the Reform Club, 316—contests Westminster, 316, 318—letter to Colonel Taylour, 317—successful candidature, 319—compared with Mr. Mill, 320—his solid and practical ability, 321—management of the Thames Embankment question, 322—services to the School Board, ib.—appointed Financial Secretary to the Treasury, 323—extraordinary business instincts, 324—First Lord of the Admiralty, ib.—eulogies on his promotion, 325—receives the honorary degree of D.C.L., 326—genial cordiality, 327—extracts from his correspondence, ib.—self-denying patriotism, 328—at the War Office, 329—undertakes the post of Secretary for Ireland, 330—opinion of the Home Rule and Land Bills of 1886, 331—leader of the House of Commons, ib.—weakness as a debater, 332—methods and tactics, 333—terse and short speeches, ib.—relations with his followers, 334—proceedings in the Parnell Commission, 336—his wish to resign, 337—averts a financial catastrophe, ib.—accepts the Lord Wardenship of the Cinque Ports, 338—illness and death, ib.

Stanley, Arthur Penrhyn, 235—birth, 238—father, ib.—at school, 239—fondness for writing poetry, ib.—passion for travel, 240—at Rugby, ib.—unique career at school, 241—courage, 242—admiration for Arnold, ib.—at Hurstmonceux, 243—at Oxford, 244—settled conclusions to contemporary questions, ib.—position as an English Churchman, 245—academical career, 247—brilliant success, 248—first visit to Rome, ib.—ordination, 249—tour abroad, ib.—view of the state of Church affairs, 250—unsatisfactory position, 251—successful lectures, and tidings of the death of Arnold, 252—publishes his 'Life of Arnold,' ib.—ecclesiastical storms, 253—'Sermons on the Apostolic Age,' 254—death of his father and brothers, ib.—accepts the Deanery of Canterbury, 255—success as a controversialist and Secretary for the Universities' Commission, ib.—tour in the East, 256—Professor of Ecclesiastical History at Oxford, 257—attempt to settle the scandal of St. George's in the East, ib.—article in the 'Edinburgh Review,' 258—Chaplain to the Prince of Wales in his Eastern tour, ib.—defence of Bishop Colenso, 259—'Lectures on the Jewish Church,' 259, 261—life as Dean of Westminster, 260—'Memorials of Westminster,' ib.—last years at the Abbey, 261—visit to St. Petersburg, ib.—tour in the United States, 262—death, ib.

T.

Taxation, Local. See 'Betterment' 185.

Testament, Old, Criticism, 377—on the Pentateuch and Book of Joshua, 378—Bishop Ellicott's definition of the Traditional view, 379—'rectified' view, 380—passages from the post-Mosaic Books, 382—the Historical Books, 383—teaching of the Apocrypha, 384—the 'Men of the Great Synagogue,' 386—evidence of Philo and Josephus, 387—pre-Christian belief, ib.—the 'Christus Comprobat,' 388—question of the doctrine of the Two Natures, 389—Dr. Harvey Goodwin's views, 390—the Bishop of Manchester's convictions, ib.—our Lord's compliance with custom, 391—evidence of the Fathers against the Mosaic authorship, 392—attacks upon the Rabbinic tradition, 394-397—Father Simon's 'Critical History of the Old Testament,' 397, 398—Jean Le Clerc's views, 399—result of investigations, 400—the analytical theory, 401—the Grafian theory, ib.—Dr. Robertson Smith's Lectures, 402—the four great documents, 403—the dates, 404—contradictory evidence of hypotheses, 405—four dominant theories, 406—scholars of note, 407—evidence of archaeologists, 408—quotation from the Bishop of Oxford's Charge, 409—distinction between the substance and form of the Books, 410—between authorship and authority, 411—Archbishop of Canterbury's estimate, ib.—policy of the Church, 413.

Thackeray, his success in the art of historical novel-writing, 48. See History and Fable.

Tolstol, Count, his attractions for Frenchmen, 12—frantic idealism, 13—mystic colouring, 14.

Tucker, Rev. H. W., on the consolidation of the Church in the Colonies, 68.

W.

Wagner, Richard, a 'graphomaniac,' 15—his invention of the 'musical drama,' ib.—extravagance of his love-scenes, 16—materials for his plays, 17—impersonation of free and united Germany, ib.—notoriety, 18.

Westcott, Bishop, on the progress of Christianity in the first three centuries, 70.

Williams, Sir M. Monier, quotation from his work on India, 72. See Church Missions.

Y.

Yeh, Imperial High Commissioner at Canton, 473—unpopularity and cruelty, ib.—seizes a British vessel, 474—taken prisoner, 475.

END OF THE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-EIGHTH VOLUME.

